If the answer to any of the above questions is YES, the University of Utah requires that you have a tuberculin skin test to check for latent tuberculosis infection. If the answer to all of the above questions is NO, a tuberculin skin test should not be done. Please note: If you have had a positive tuberculin skin test in the past, you do not need another test, but SHC must have a record of this positive skin test. Documentation must include of the size of the reaction in millimeters and a report of a normal chest x-ray.
